BUBONIC PLAGUE.

HOW TO DESTROY RATS !!

BUBONIC PLAGUE is a Disease among Rats and Mice, and they being migrating animals the infection is carried from house to house. It matters not how perfect the Sanitary Arrangements may be, if Rats and Mice are permitted to remain about the Premises the disease can be contracted. The best safeguard is to destroy Rats and Mice.

NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

This is the only preparation ever compounded which will effectually rid your house of these pests, as well as keep the premises free from them.

All that is necessary to do is to sprinkle the powder about where rats and mice frequent, inside the holes or between floors. The rats eat it and then seek the sewers for water, when death is produced.

With NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE it is not necessary to mix with any other substance to induce the animals to eat it, but sprinkle about according to directions, and the Rat Cheese does the rest.

The Rats will not die in the House after Eating NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

RATS AND MICE SPREAD DISEASES.

The fact has been scientifically established that rats and mice not only carry Bubonic Plague but also other infectious diseases, like Smallpox, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, etc. So the best protection against all such dangers is to keep rats and mice away from your house by using Newton's Rat Cheese. It is such a convenient article to use, no mixing with other substances is necessary.

See that you get the genuine NEWTON'S RAT CHEESE.

Don't cry, miss," said a feeble soldier on her side. "There's not a soldier in the Army who is worth your tears."

Comradeship in war brings out the worst and the best qualities of men. It was my privilege to see our soldiers under many trying conditions in South Africa. The excellence of their conduct, their kindness, patience, and cheerfulness, impressed me greatly—so greatly, indeed, that I have often wondered at the attitude of the public at home. It would, I feel sure, be impossible to get finer material for the Army than the men who have fought in this War. You may raise the pay of the private soldier, but that which is really wanted to attract men to the colours is a complete change in treatment and in popular esteem. He must no longer be looked upon as an outcast from society, whom any publican may turn away from his door; and whose barracks are the place a detective visits when a thief or a burglar escapes. We must initiate the Germans in this, at the King's uniform, whether worn by the private soldier or carefully hidden away in the wardrobe of the commissioned officer. This must react on the conduct and manners of recruits at home, for the knowledge that others respect us is an element in manners.

Time and circumstances are favourable for this change. Thousands of men who in England would never have dreamed of associating with a private soldier have fought and suffered hunger and thirst at his side, and have learned to know him as not only a fellow man but another only in the stress and danger of the field. They will return to their homes, and will spread the cult of comradeship. It is too much to expect that they will give, to the professional soldier, at any rate, the admiration and respect that the public and the amateur at cricket or football do not withhold from the professional player, or the almost affectionate deference that many people pay to the blue-jacketed ashore?

If we attain to this, we shall not want soldiers of whom we may be proud in peace as war. Defenders of the Fatherland with whom none need be ashamed of associating. That we have not attained it is proved by the long absence of the nation under vile insult—and by the contrast which Germany offered of a super-sensitive people prompt to defend its soldiers from imputations that were never made save in Germany. I am Sir, your obedient servant,

RICHARD GOLDMANN,
Formerly War Correspondent in South Africa.

There is no particular time of the year for taking

Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Oil. The time to take it is whenever it is needed—when the system is disordered by disease, or overcome by unsteady lungs and depression, when the body is in an atonic state. If you are losing flesh, if your appetite is poor and you do not relish your food, if you are pale and weak, if you are overworked with an indisposition to exertion, you need Stearns' Wine.
